RUSSIA WANTS
TO BEAT U. S.
MAKING STEELSCRAP COLLECTION
BY AMERICA IS SUGGESTED

Washington, June 21 (AP)—Senator Martin (R-Pa.) pictured Russia today as "making a great effort" to build up her steel industry for a possible challenge to America's production leadership.

Martin, who is directing a special Senate inquiry into the steel industry, told a reporter he "is worried about this."

"We gave Russia some of our most modern steel production equipment during the war when she was our ally and Germany had destroyed many of her plants," he recalled.

He added that steel industry leaders and government authorities believe Russia now is "only about one sixth as efficient in steel production" as the United States.

"But we better keep our eyes on her steel production, if she acquires any of our American know-how," said the Pennsylvania senator and former governor. "She is going after this awfully hard."

"With her low wage level, Russia might offer some competition for American steel in South America and western Europe in the post-war period."

"Behind Iron Curtain"

As chairman of the Senate small business subcommittee holding hearings on steel, Martin said he has learned that "Russia is accumulating all possible wartime scrap."

"I think it would be wise for our Army, Navy and Air Forces to begin collecting and bringing back some of the billions of tons of scrap we scattered around the world during the recent war," he said, "even though such an operation might not be wise from a purely profitable business viewpoint."

Tom J. Smith, Jr., Cleveland, Ohio, president of the Pressed Metal Institute, told the Senate group this week that American ships should be bringing back scrap steel, iron, copper, lead and brass "regardless of what it costs."

"Our Russian Allies are collecting all scrap, even to rubble brick, and storing it behind the iron curtain," Smith testified.

"We are not a military nation, but it would be mighty handy to have a good big scrap pile, regardless of what it costs."

Texas City Buries
Unknown Dead In Memorial Cemetery

Texas City, Tex., June 21 (AP)—Shortly after sunrise tomorrow 63 bodies will be placed in trench-like graves in a one-acre memorial cemetery plot four miles north of the scene of the Texas City's April 16 waterfront disaster.

Sixty-six days after their horrible experience of explosion and fire, residents of this little industrial city will hold mass funeral services for their unknown dead.

Bodies of 405 victims of the nation's greatest post-war tragedy already have been claimed and buried by relatives and friends. Of this number the identity of 135 was determined through fingerprints, belt buckles, watches, rings and other personal effects.

J. H. Arnette of the Texas state department of public safety today estimated that in addition to the 468 bodies recovered approximately 100 other persons are believed missing from the disaster.

Big Ford-Firestone
Wedding Links Two
Famous Families

Akron, O., June 21 (AP)—Two of the nation's most famous industrial families were united today when Martha Parke Firestone, granddaughter of the late king of rubberdom, became the bride of William Clay Ford, grandson of the late auto tycoon, in one of the most elaborate weddings of 1947.

St. Paul's Episcopal church accommodated approximately 450 invited guests while police coped with more than 1,000 persons who gathered outside.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Walter Tunks, rector of St. Paul's with Bishop Beverly D. Tucker of the Episcopal Diocese of Ohio conferring the blessing on the young couple.

It was a beautiful setting. Across the transept overhead leading to the chancel was a carved gothic fret patterned and garlanded with white flowers and greens.

The baptismal font in the transept's left corner was massed with flowers.

The chancel at either side of the altar was illuminated by scores of tall lighted cathedral candles in many candelabra arranged in tiers, and banking the altar wall were masses of cibotium ferns and regal lilies.

Bishop Tucker and Dr. Tunks took their places at the chancel steps with Mr. Ford and his best man, his brother, Henry Ford II.

Miss Firestone was escorted by her father, Harvey Firestone Jr., president of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

Her magnificent princess gown was made entirely of rare antique rose point and duchess lace over pure white slipper satin.

Lying in soft folds across her head was a mantilla of rose point and duchess lace falling down to long floating points at sides, and from the back of her head fell a long veil of fine silk ivory tulle.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations, small white butterfly orchids and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor was her sister, Miss Elizabeth Firestone.

DUTCH BARGAIN
WITH INDONESIA

Political Showdown To Be Forced; Country
On Brink Of War

BY STANLEY SWINTON
Batavia, Java, June 21 (AP)—The Dutch took steps today to force a decisive political showdown with the Indonesians after a two-year stalemate, demanding specific assurances from the Indonesian republic that it accepts completely all the Netherlands proposals for an interim national government.

Convinced that Dutch patience is exhausted and the country is possibly on the brink of war, the Indonesian republic already has made major concessions to the Dutch.

But the latter, taking no chances that another "final solution" will vanish when practical implementation is attempted, asked today for unequivocal acceptance of every detail contained in the ultimatum handed the Indonesians on May 27.

The plan calls for the establishment of a joint republic-Dutch police force to guarantee the safety of foreign estate owners, whose holdings yield most of Indonesia's rich harvest of rubber, coffee, sugar and quinine. It contemplates a joint customs and foreign exchange control, and Dutch military assistance until the Indonesians are able to build a modern army.

The government would be headed by a Netherlands crown representative who would retain final say until the fledgling United States of Indonesia is granted full sovereignty on Jan. 1, 1949.

Communists Charge
Hungarians Plotted
To Set Up U.S. Base

Budapest, June 21 (AP)—A "white paper" compiled by the Hungarian Communist party said tonight that former Premier Ferenc Nagy, through his connections with prominent Americans, "tried to make Hungary the southeastern European economic and political base of the United States."

The white paper, dealing with the plot which the Communists said Nagy hatched against the Hungarian government, was advertised by Communists as being full of details of "crimes" committed by various persons—including Nagy who were involved in a conspiracy against democracy.

Although it makes no charges of a sensational nature, it is full of hints regarding a number of persons, including former U. S. Minister H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld, Laszlo Eker-Racz, former economic expert of the U. S. legation here; Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Rep. Sol Bloom (D-U. Y.), former chairman of the House foreign affairs committee.

A copy of the white paper, due to be made public tomorrow with much Communist fanfare, was obtained by newsmen here tonight.

The paper says that Nagy, who resigned his premiership June 1, maintained a double policy of working secretly against the Communists and Russia, while openly declaring friendship and cooperation.

It charges frequently that when Nagy considered future action, he based all his plans on ratification of the Hungarian peace treaty and the departure of Russian troops, an attitude considered by the Communists to be antagonistic.

Other Hungarian developments during the day included a statement by a reliable Hungarian informant who said "Communist spies" had been ordered to watch President Zoltan Tildy to prevent his leaving the country before the September elections.

Communist leaders, the informant said, wished Tildy to remain in Hungary because he was the last remaining Smallholders party leader in the government and that they considered his presence would lend credence to the legality of the elections.

Meanwhile, 24 spectators at Friday's fire at St. Stephen's cathedral here were arrested and questioned for saying Communists probably started the blaze.

Heavy Rains Promise To Prolong High Water;
20,000 Homeless

Hannibal, Mo., June 21 (AP)—The flood situation along the rampant Mississippi eased today as the river began receding slightly after cresting below last week's record heights.

However, heavy rains elsewhere promised to prolong the high water which has inundated millions of acres of farm land and made over 20,000 persons homeless in the past two weeks.

At St. Joseph, on the Missouri river, heavy downpours brought a forecast of a third crest to equal one which threatened the municipality of the river in both Kansas and northwest Missouri rose out of their banks.

The second crest, meanwhile, passed the area between Lexington and Booneville, slightly below the stages recorded earlier this month.

Maritime Dispute
Ends; West Coast
Shipping Resumed

San Francisco, June 21 (AP)—Nathan P. Feinsinger, labor department conciliator announced today a "complete settlement" of the maritime dispute which a few days ago threatened a long tieup of west coast shipping.

Terms of the last two agreements—those between employers and the CIO marine cooks and the radio operators—were settled upon this morning, he said, "on the basis of recent agreement on the east coast."

Shipping was resumed Thursday after a four-day tieup under a truce calling for sailings pending windup of negotiations.

SENATE READY TO OVER-RIDE
TRUMAN VETOVOTE SET FOR NEXT
MONDAY ON HOT
LABOR BILL

BY JACK BELL
Washington, June 21 (AP)—A little group of filibusters yielded in their fight for President Truman and his labor bill veto late today and agreed to a Senate vote on Monday which Republicans and Democrats feel certain will make the measure law.

The agreement on a voting hour—2 p. m. Eastern Standard Time Monday—came by unanimous consent after the Senate had been in session steadily since 11 a. m. (EST) yesterday—2 1/2 straight hours. But the session then kept right on going with more talk.

Senator Morse (R-Ore.) had just completed his tenth hour of steady talking when Senator Wherry (Neb.), the GOP whip, won the agreement, "to assure unlimited debate."

Supporters Liked
Morse had taken up the ball from Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) at 5:30 a. m. (EST), and as he talked throughout the morning and into the afternoon he refused to concede that the President's supporters were licked.

"It is true, of course," he said, leaning wearily against his desk, "that as of this afternoon we would be licked. And maybe next week, too. I don't know. But some of my friends with pencils have told me there is a chance—we might win."

Taylor had been going steadily for eight hours and 25 minutes when he finally gave up the floor in the early morning hours.

Meanwhile Rep. Hartley (R-N.J.), co-author of the bill, issued a statement disputing Mr. Truman's interpretation of it. He accused the President of "double-talk, sham, distortion, abuse" and "hysterical grasping at any argument, however, invalid, to thwart the will of Congress."

Hartley declared the chief executive objected to language which was not in the measure at all. And he contended Mr. Truman had not written his veto message himself but that it contained the "distortions that left-wing lawyers for the CIO and left-wing lawyers for the Labor board have been circulating."

The House voted yesterday to override the veto as soon as Mr. Truman's blistering message had been read. Similar action by the Senate thus would make the bill law as soon as the officers of Congress signed it.

The bill's supporters demonstrated during the night that they could sleep on cloakroom couches with the best of them. Each time someone forced a nose count, they came out in numbers. The President's supporters were less evident as the night wore on with one attempt after another for a vote agreement being blocked.

The unusual show of the Senate grinding ahead without respite, its first marathon of this kind since 1927, brought crowds of sight-seers to the galleries. The bobby-car, all-night movie crowd had provided most of the few spectators who stayed through until dawn.

At the White House several hundred telegrams were received. Eben Ayers, assistant press secretary, reported they ran about 5 to 1 in support of the veto.

The President particularly assailed a provision under which the government could obtain 80-day injunctions against national paralysis strikes, such as a coal walkout.

The measure also would:

Lansing, June 21 (AP)—A trans-Canada airlines route over the Upper Peninsula will be opened with the initial flight July 1.

Officials of the TCA, the State Department of Aeronautics and the Civil Aeronautics Administration made a final check of Upper Peninsula air fields Friday.

Guy R. Richardson, chief engineer of the Department of Aeronautics, went over the Grand Marais and Kinross sites Friday with federal and Canadian officials to make a final inspection of the fields and their radio range and navigational facilities.

The project is described as the first international one of its kind in this hemisphere. Trans-Canada Airlines will pay for the sites and their facilities but will not pick up or discharge passengers or air cargo in Michigan.

The fields will be used for possible emergency landings by planes flying the TCA "short cut" between Winnipeg, Man., and North Bay, Ont.

RIOTS CONTINUE
IN INDIA, 16 DIE

New Delhi, June 21 (AP)—Rioting mobs killed at least 16 persons and set fires that cast a smoke pall over Lahore today as legislators from all parts of Punjab province poured into the capital city to vote on partition.

The new outbreaks in the Punjab, along with rioting near Lucknow in the United provinces, brought to 71 the death toll in two days of communal rioting in India.

The legislators attended meetings of the Moslem League, Sikh and Congress parties prior to Monday's session of the assembly, when they were expected to decide to split the province into sections which will join Hindustan and Pakistan, the separate Hindu and Moslem states to be created in India.

Yesterday the Bengal provincial legislature voted for partition. The situation in the Punjab is complicated by a Sikh minority which is making militant demands for a homeland of its own.

The legislative actions constitute the first preliminaries under the plan of Viceroy Lord Mountbatten for setting up the two separate states, which are scheduled to become commonwealth dominions about August 15.

During today's rioting the mobs fired upon each other, and in turn were fired upon by police trying to disperse them.

Famed Bugsy Siegel, 42,
Shot Gangland Style
With .30 Carbine

Beverly Hills, Calif., June 21 (AP)—Detectives groped through the shady recesses of the metropolitan area underworld today in quest of the gang-style killers of Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel, 42, gambler, man about Hollywood, and Las Vegas, Nev., night club operator.

The fabulous Bugsy—who defied the nickname—reached the end of his sensational career late last night when an assassin shot him through a window as Siegel sat in a spacious mansion, reading a newspaper.

Four slugs entered his body. The weapon was identified by empty shells as a .30 caliber carbine of a type familiar to every former service man.

Police were holding as a material witness Siegel's friend, Alvin Smiley, who was sitting beside Bugsy. Smiley was uninjured, but one slug tore through his coat sleeve. He showed no signs of being in the killing and was being held merely "because he was present at a murder and we don't want anything to happen to him," said Sergeant Alcorn.

Siegel, once named by then Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York as a public enemy and who at least once was indicted for murder, had arrived here Friday night from Las Vegas, Nev., where he is the principal operator of the gaudy Flamingo club, $7,000,000 gambling casino and hotel.

The shooting took place in an elaborate residence leased by wealthy Virginia Hill, 30, well known in the film colony for her lavish parties.

Police said Siegel was single, and two children.

Police said the two trucks apparently met head-on with a terrific impact. They believed the two drivers were trapped in their cabs and died in the fire which followed and almost completely destroyed the two large vehicles. Cause of the accident, which occurred shortly after 9 a. m. this morning, was unknown.

Ice Cream Vendor
And Girl Customer
Killed By Trailer

Detroit, June 21 (AP)—Police today released William E. McDonald, 36, of Kalamazoo, whose truck struck and killed an elderly ice cream vendor and an 11-year-old girl here Friday night.

Assistant Prosecutor Frank Ciqui said after questioning of McDonald that "this appears to have been an unavoidable accident."

Alex Perry, 63, of Detroit and Frankie Jean Brant, 11, of Redford township died when McDonald's truck and trailer, averting to avoid an auto, smashed into the ice cream wagon where the girl was buying a cone.

The victory margin for De Gasperi's fourth government—the first since the liberation under Communist or Socialist representation—was 43 votes.

When Thrown From
Motorcycle On US-41

Stephenson—Frederick N. Raboin, 24, of Daggett, was instantly killed Friday night on US-41 north of Stephenson when the motorcycle he was riding skidded out of control into the side of an L. & L. Transfer truck.

Investigating officers said Raboin had passed an automobile just before skidding into the truck. The rider was thrown to the pavement. His head was crushed, police said.

Phil Terron, Escanaba, was the driver of the truck. No inquest will be held.

Non-Union Workers
At Packard Plant
Get Pay Increases

Detroit, June 21 (AP)—Non-union salaried personnel of the Packard Motor Car Co. have been given pay increases comparable with those granted hourly rated workers, President George T. Christopher announced today.

Christopher said persons earning less than $300 a month were given a $26 monthly boost and those earning between $300 and $500 were given a nine per cent raise.

Retrospective to April 28, the increases will affect 400 employees.

CASHING OF GI
TERMINAL PAY
BONDS PUSHEDTREASURY OPPOSES
GIVING MONEY TO VETERANS

Washington, June 21 (AP)—Members of the House armed services committee said today an all-out drive to cash GI terminal leave bonds probably will sidetrack universal military training legislation until next year.

The committee already has held three public hearings on universal training but has set no date for their resumption. It has questioned three members of the President's special commission that recommended the plan.

Hearings on more than 30 bills to make the terminal pay bonds redeemable immediately instead of five years from their issue date are tentatively set to start next Wednesday and may last several days. The Republican House leadership is driving for passage of a bill within two weeks.

A final decision on the future of universal training hearings will be made Tuesday, with many members favoring postponement until early next year.

Rep. Blackney (R-Mich.), chairman of the sub-committee in charge of terminal pay legislation, said representatives of the Army, Navy, Treasury, Veterans Administration and veteran's organizations will be heard before the committee acts.

The Treasury already has opposed the proposal to cash the bonds immediately.

Passage of legislation to cash the bonds seems virtually assured, since both Speaker Martin (D-Mass.) and House Republican Leader Heflick (Ind.), as well as some leading Democrats, are supporting it.

Big Truck Trailers
Collide And Burn;
Two Drivers Perish

East Lansing, June 21 (AP)—A suburban Detroit truck driver and an Illinois man died this morning when their heavy truck trailers collided head-on and were demolished by flames on US-112 about three miles east of White Pigeon.

State police identified the victims as Arthur Hiner, 22, of Lincoln Park and Earl Gueswell, 33, of Stoughton, Ill. Hiner was driver of a truck owned by the Detroit branch of the Fruehauf Trailer Co. Gueswell was the driver of a truck owned by the Cassens Auto Transport with offices in Detroit and Chicago.

Police said Hiner was single, and two children.

Police said the two trucks apparently met head-on with a terrific impact. They believed the two drivers were trapped in their cabs and died in the fire which followed and almost completely destroyed the two large vehicles. DELTA COUNTY BOARD TO MEET

Supervisors Will Open Annual Equalization Session Monday

The Delta county board of supervisors will meet at the court house in Escanaba Monday morning to open its annual equalization session, when it will establish equalized valuations for the townships and cities for county tax purposes.

Supervisor Harold Gustafson of Ensign township, board chairman, will preside.

It is expected that as a result of work by a special valuation study committee of the county board, headed by Supr. Wynand Nieuwenkamp of Gladstone, the board will arrive at equalization of valuations quicker than in other years.

The committee had prepared a suggested equalization for the county, and received unofficial approval of it from the supervisors in the various townships, and from city assessors. This report will be submitted to the board Monday.

In a preliminary report by the committee, a goal of $25,537,000 total equalized valuation for the county was proposed. This total is slightly below that of last year, when the state tax commission set the equalized values for the county when an appeal was filed by the supervisor from Escanaba township. In the year previous the state tax commission was also called in on an appeal by a supervisor from the city of Escanaba.

Because of the preliminary agreements voiced to the committee by the various supervisors and assessors this year, it is believed that equalization will be accomplished with less difficulty.

Former Escanaban Has Been C&NW Traveling Eng' Since 1936

Clinton, Iowa.—It's difficult to break away from a job you've liked for 47 years, even to answer the call to play golf and fish, toward which you've had decided hobby tendencies over a like period of time. That's what Axel R. Erickson, 434 Sixth Avenue South, said as he prepared for retirement from railroading July 1. He is retiring as traveling engineer on the Chicago and North Western railway, a position he has held since 1935.

swinging golf clubs on the greensward and fishing in western mountain streams wherever he can find them. After 47 years of railroading, he conceded he's worked long enough. It's out to pasture and play from here on out, he says, with a possible vacation trip to visit his daughter, Mrs. P. J. Cassidy of Tulsa, Okla.

An adamant advocate of Diesel equipment, Erickson's career stems from the turn of the century, when railroad mechanisms were not nearly as efficient as at present. He started with North Western in 1900, as a machinist's apprentice on the Peninsula division in Escanaba, Mich.

In 1902 he was promoted to engine fireman and in 1904 to engineer on the same division.

Between 1925 and 1929, he was successively road foreman and trainmaster before he was transferred to Boone in 1929 as road foreman. He was assigned to the Clinton terminus in 1935 as road foreman and has been employed here since.

In his tenure of service with the North Western, he expressed genuine praise for the cooperation and treatment given him. "It's a wonderful road to work for," he said.

With his wife, Anna, he will continue to reside in Clinton.

Mr. Erickson is a nephew of Mrs. John Moe of Escanaba, and Mrs. Erickson is a sister of Mrs. Ed Murphy, John and Claude Fisher, also of Escanaba.

The stems of rhubarb are a source of those all important food minerals, calcium and iron. The leaves must not be used, for although the green tops of most vegetables are considered edible, those of rhubarb contain oxalic acid, which is poisonous when taken in large enough quantity.

Always hang slacks or trousers by the legs after washing. The wet weight of the garment takes out most of the wrinkles and the slacks will need little pressing.

Labor Bill Is Vetoed

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has vetoed the Taft-Hartley labor bill and Friday night he went before the American people in a radio address to explain his action and to arouse public pressure in the senate to sustain the veto. The house had already vetoed the bill over the presidential veto by the significant margin of 331-83.

The senate has not yet acted upon the labor bill as these words are written. The final outcome was still in doubt although there appeared to be sufficient affirmative votes to override the veto by a narrow margin. Opponents were conducting a filibuster to delay a final vote until all the presidential supporters in the senate were on hand.

The tremendous vote in the house, a margin of four to one, shows clearly public sentiment on the Taft-Hartley bill. The house of representatives has always been closer to the American people than the U. S. senate because congressmen are elected only for two year terms.

The public has been badgered and browbeaten by irresponsible, all too powerful labor leaders in recent years. The Taft-Hartley bill is the public's determination to eliminate labor abuses. If the bill fails now, it will not end the people's efforts to correct such abuses.

President Truman is entirely familiar with irresponsible elements in organized labor. He has gone before the people himself in the past year to point out labor abuses directed against the public interest.

When the opportunity came to correct those abuses, however, the president balked. Apparently the flood of letters and telegrams that reached his desk as a result of organized labor's campaign against the Taft-Hartley bill made profound influence on the president. If rejecting this bill, the president put himself on the side of irresponsible labor and against the public interest to which the presidential office should be dedicated.

Full Publicity in Greece

GREECE has guaranteed the United States a free hand in supervising the $300,000,000 American aid program and has agreed to full publicity on the use of the money in that country.

This agreement should eliminate some of the objections in this country and elsewhere that American aid money in Greece will be diverted to strengthen the Greek royalty without accomplishing any material rehabilitation of the country. Extensive reforms are essential in Greece before any great progress can be made in a program to put the war torn land on its economic feet. In exchange for American aid, the Greek government has pledged complete cooperation with American authorities to carry on a broad program of economic, financial, industrial and governmental reforms.

Full publicity for the program in Greece has been assured. Representatives of the American press and radio services have received guarantees that they will be permitted to observe freely and to report fully regarding the utilization of the assistance given by the American people.

Such a program obviously provides the best hope that recovery in Greece can be accomplished in the shortest possible time. It also assures the American people that they will be fully and continuously advised of the progress of the program, so that they can determine for themselves whether the money given to Greece will effectively block Communist invasion of that strategic land.

Report on Utilities

THE annual survey of Escanaba's municipal gas distribution system, conducted this week, revealed only five minor leaks in the system of more than 30 miles of gas mains. The report of the gas expert, Stuart Synon, of New Hampshire, confirmed the city's own figures which revealed a gas loss since the start of this year of only 0.44 percent, an exceptionally low average.

Unlike the electric utility also operated by the city, the gas utility is not a particularly profitable undertaking. In fact, the utmost of efficiency is necessary to prevent a loss. The city's estimated profit on its gas utility for the 1947-48 fiscal year is only $12.38, to which is added $4,353.72 for taxes and $2,418.73 for interest on investment, figured at only 1 percent. In contrast, the electric utility is figured to bring a profit of $95,822.89, to which is added $8,768.64 for taxes and $39,971.72 for interest on investment, which in this instance is figured at 8 percent.

The municipally operated water utility is estimated to yield a return of $19,709.24 in the next fiscal year, but only $2,393.12 is estimated at profit on the undertaking. Estimated taxes of $11,131.79 constitute most of the city's receipts from the water utility, the remaining $6,184.33 being interest on the investment at 1 percent.

Although the city has solved most of the problem of its gas leaks in its gas distribution system, it still has a major problem in solving its unusually high unaccounted for loss between water production and consumption.

The city's fourth utility, the steam plant, is operating at a loss and will continue to do so in the next fiscal year. Taxes on the steam utility are figured at $3,120.75 and the estimated loss is figured at $5,841.69, leaving a net loss to the city of $2,720.69. This does not include any allowance at all for interest on the investment.

Continue Prison Inquiry

INMATES of Jackson prison may or may not have been sincere in their offer to raise a sum of $10,000 from the prisoners to pay for continuance of the investigation of conditions at the prison, but in any case the inquiry should be pressed to its conclusion.

The public is entitled to know the facts in the Jackson prison situation, investigation of which is scheduled to end July 1 because of the lack of funds.

The public, of course, does not want inmates of the prison to pay for any or all of the cost of the investigation and it may be presumed that the prisoners knew that when they made their offer to take up a subscription within the prison walls.

There have been many rumors of misconduct or poor administration at Jackson prison heard in recent months. It is time that the whole matter was brought out into the open and that he public be given all the facts. This can be accomplished only by continuing the investigation until all of the facts are ascertained.

THANKS TO CUBA

(Marquette Mining Journal)

Housewives who are getting more sugar this year than last can thank Cuba for it. They can also thank Cuba that they got as much sugar as they did during the lean years. The Japs during the war shut us off from the sugar of the Far East, and so great is the destruction there that we are getting little or no sugar from these countries.

Had we depended on our domestic sugar cane and beet sugar producers we would have been in a sorry plight, indeed.

Now that we are approaching a normal situation with respect to sugar, it is time the United States recognized its debt to Cuba. In the peacetime quota system the island was allowed to send only about 2,000,000 tons of sugar to this country. This year it is sending more than twice as much.

Secretary Marshall and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson have asked Congress to raise the Cuban sugar quota. This is in the interest of American housewives as well as Cuban sugar producers. There is little sense in tightening restrictions on our main source of supply.

TOMORROW'S BACON

(Iron Mountain News)

Though the marvels of hybrid corn may not quite be duplicated in the field of hog breeding, enough has been done to indicate that the pig that goes to market in 1950 or so will be leaner, longer and bigger than its predecessors in the slaughter house, Sydney B. Self tells part of the story in the Wall Street Journal with his account of the successful work of the University of Minnesota No. 1. The start of the experiment was a cross of the Danish Landrace and the Tamworth, with other crosses since then.

The prospect is that some 50,000 pigs bred by Minnesota boars will go to market this fall, five times as many next year and possibly a million in 1948. The custom-bred pig will be an "easy keeper," costing less to raise to marketing weight, and when it goes to market will carry less fat and a greater potential supply of lean pork chops and lean bacon.

The Minnesota experiment is only one of many with Danish Landrace. Crosses have been made with such breeds as Hampshires, Chesters, Durocs and Yorkshires. Minnesota No. 1 and its prospective successor, Minnesota No. 2, will have many rivals.

Of prime interest to farmers is the fact that development of a leaner, heavier hog will reduce the conversion of expensive corn into cheap lard. Of prime interest to those who like to be awakened by the smell of bacon wafting up the stairs is the prospect of leaner bacon, of superior flavor.

SUNDAY ROUNDUP

Rochester: Please define and pronounce the word parochial.—E. J. J.

Answer: Parochial means "of or pertaining to a parish," as, parochial schools. Say: puh-ROE-kee-ul.

Beaumont: Why is a cat called a "tabby"?—Mrs. J. O. B.

Answer: Strictly speaking, only the yellowish-gray cat with black bands is a tabby. Tabby is literally a kind of waved or striped taffeta, named for Attabi, a section of Bagdad where it was first made. Buffalo: In our office we have a discussion as to the correct spelling of the verb "to root" (for the home team).—D. D.

Answer: The spelling "root" is correct. The word is from the obsolete word root, "to roar or bellow." It was pronounced either root or root.

Kansas City: Can you tell me what the abbreviation B. V. D. actually stands for?—W. L. F.

Answer: In his book, "The American Language" (Alfred A. Knopf), H. L. Mencken states that the B. V. D. Company holds the origin and meaning as a trade secret.

Rutland: Which is correct, "drought"

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—The New England conscience is a wonderful and a fearful thing. It was contributed immeasurably to American character.

A generous measure of that conscience belongs to Sen. Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire. Like so many other New Englanders before him who have fought the battles of conscience, Tobey does not hesitate to champion unpopular causes.

He was one of the very few Republicans and the only senator from the industrial east to oppose actively the Reed-Bulwinkle bill. He opposed it because he believes it gives to the railroads the kind of economic power that no private company or group of companies should possess. In permitting the roads to agree on rates outside the scope of the anti-trust laws, the bill, as Tobey sees it, gives to private corporations a greater power than government.

When the senate passed the Reed-Bulwinkle bill, Tobey could not be present to have his final say against it. He was called back to New Hampshire by the serious illness of his wife, who has been his lifelong helpmate and partner.

—SOUTH OPPOSED—

His presence in the senate would, of course, have made no difference in the outcome. The vote on adoption was 60 for and 27 against. Most of the opposition came from southern senators, including conservative Democrats who believe that higher freight rates in the south are part of a pattern of discrimination that holds their region and the west in colonial dependence.

Western senators opposed it, too. Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, whose opposition to monopoly controls is unrelenting, succeeded in adding several amendments which would put government restraints on the private rate agreements. His chief amendment would have required submission of the agreements to Congress before they could be approved. When this was rejected, he voted against the bill.

In a narrow, regional sense, this was not Tobey's fight. New England is in the favored freight rate zone. But the senator from New Hampshire has a sense of righteousness—a conscience—that makes him take on fights even though they may not immediately serve the special interests of his own state.

He stepped into another fight in the same way. That was when he stopped the confirmation of the president's friend, Edwin W. Pauley, to be undersecretary of the navy. Tobey believed that Pauley was disqualified by his efforts to get the vast Tideland Oil Reserves turned over to the states and thereby taken away from the federal government.

—TOBEY IS FAIR-MINDED—

There was no political animus in this. Tobey had fought in behalf of Democratic nominees when he thought they were being unfairly attacked. One of them was New Dealer Aubrey Williams, whose nomination to a government bureau brought up the familiar charge of Communism. Tobey went back to a Democratic hero, Grover Cleveland, to find a powerful statement to rebuke those who were raising the Communist charge.

"Communism is a hateful thing and a menace to peace and organized government. But the Communism of combined wealth and capital, the outgrowth of overweening cupidity and selfishness which insidiously undermines the justice and integrity of free institutions, is not less dangerous than the Communism of oppressed poverty and toil which, exasperated by injustice and discontent, attacks with wild disorder the citadel of rule."

Tobey, the blunt-spoken New Hampshireman, is opposed to both those Communisms. A deeply religious man, he draws inspiration and strength from the Bible. His political opponents have often been laid low by an apt passage from the scriptures intoned in Tobey's resounding basso profundo.

There is something about Tobey of an earlier America. For nearly forty years, he and his wife have held an interdenominational hymn festival on their farm near Temple, N. H., on the last Sunday in August. In late years, thousands have come from the surrounding countryside.

Tobey's fight on Pauley made President Truman angry. He wrote Tobey a curt, contemptuous letter. But Tobey is not one to bear a grudge. If and when the President vetoes the Reed-Bulwinkle bill, he will find Tobey fighting to sustain the veto. Tobey represents not just New Hampshire but the entire United States. A few more senators like him would be useful just now.

or "drouth"?—Mrs. W. M. C.

Answer: Both spellings are sanctioned. Merriam Webster's seems to favor "drought," which also is the only spelling listed by the U. S. Government Style Manual. Drought is pronounced drou-t, to rhyme with "doubt." Drouth is pronounced to rhyme with "mouth."

Conroe: Please give the correct pronunciation of the word sepulchre. I heard a minister call it "SEP-ull-kree."—Reader.

Answer: "Sepulchre" is an obsolete spelling. Better spell it "sepulcher," and pronounce it: SEP-ull-ker.

Columbus: Why do we say "Quicker than you can bat an eye"?—F. E. R.

Answer: This particular bat is from the word bate, "to flutter (the wing)." It (bate) is a term used in falconry, from the French phrase battre de l'aile, "to beat or flutter the wing."

Canton: An English friend insists that the correct pronunciation of the word banana is "bah-NAH-nah." Must I say it?—Mrs. G. W. T.

Answer: Decidedly not. It's a Briticism that has no sanction in American use. The correct American pronunciation is: buh-NAN-nuh.

Y'Don't Shoot Santa Claus

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler—

WITHOUT HONOR—There has always been good walleye (or dory) fishing in Little Bay de Noc, but for the last couple years the number of fish has increased and catch fish fast and not daily around too long we thought dory fishing would be like that. It was.

We are also the kind of fisherman who expects to get his limit but seldom if ever does. In this we were also not disappointed. We got no fish at all the first time we went out this spring, and on our second trip we caught four—in 10 minutes.

But by and large the dory (or walleye) fishing is pretty much taken for granted locally, and persons from far-distant points—who would thrill to the sport—seldom hear of it.

ADVERTISING—Local persons take the dory for granted, and they also take him in large numbers. It is not unusual for three or four fishermen in one party to each take their limit of 10 within an hour or so. (To be honest about this we should add that when the dory are not striking you could fish for hours and get none.)

The point to be made, however, is that resort and boat operators of this area are missing a bet by failing to advertise the Bay de Noc dory fishing where it will do them the most good. By this we mean a little advertising in Middle Western metropolitan newspapers just before and during the spring and early summer walleye season.

LIMITED NOW—It is certain that the advertising would bring results and more fishermen.

When this happened it would be necessary for established boat rental business to enlarge their facilities, or for new ones to start up. Because the supply of fishing boats in this area is already taxed to its limit just by the local trade and the few outsiders who come in from states bordering Michigan.

It has been our experience, and the experience of many others who wanted to take a whirl at dory fishing, to find no boats available at the better-known boat rentals. On one occasion four parties waited for more than two hours at one place in the evening, hoping for some of the boats to return. Two boats finally came in at 9 p. m. and we were among the first arrivals and therefore were fortunate enough to get a boat, out for a few minutes, and catch four dory.

38 IN SIGHT—The other evening while driving along the south bay shore only a few miles from Escanaba we were attracted by the large number of boats a short distance off shore. They were filled with walleye fishermen. Halting the car we counted the boats—38 of them. They averaged three fishermen to the boat, or an estimated total of 114 persons. Two of the boats were large commercial fishing tugs, taking out parties of fishermen, so the total was probably much higher than our estimate.

WHAT THEY USE—June bug spinner with worms, flat fish (especially the fly rod size), small dardevil or other spoon, or just any small spinner and worms, or worms alone are used by walleye fishermen to bring them their limit.

Experienced fishermen will tell you that the best way to catch walleye is to move the bait occasionally. One fisherman found this out for himself while trolling. He was doing all the rowing. He was holding the line in one hand, and was catching all the fish. Every one wondered why until they started giving the bait a jerk similar to the jerk made when the rower pulled on the oars. Then everyone caught walleyes.

GOOD EATING—The walleye has other names, as we have mentioned before. Some folks call them dory, and others call them pike-perch.

Ichthyologists say the walleye is more akin to the perch than the pike. Both fins and coloring are perch-like, and its most distinguishing mark is the large opalescent eye. This gives it the name walleye, the same designation given the horse on the Western plains that has a whitish eye.

The flesh of the walleye is cream-colored to white, is flaky and tender and compares with perch. They are good eating either crisply fried, broiled, baked, and even boiled and creamed.

The increasing number of walleye fishermen and the number of fish and the lengthening of the

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—In austere and dignified supreme court circles there is a situation which the justices don't talk about publicly, but which is causing mingled em-barrassment, chuckles and resentment. It's the fact that one member of the court is soldiering on the job.

He is Justice Harold Burton of Ohio, who to date has written only three majority opinions during the entire year. This is the lowest output in several years of supreme court history, and court attaches whisper—behind their hands—that if Burton wasn't protected by the "Supreme Court Union" he would have been reprimanded or jostled off the bench long ago.

In contrast Justice William O. Douglas, even though sick for two months, has written 26 majority opinions, while Justice Hugo Black also has written 26.

Justice Burton, on the other hand, seems to think that being on the supreme court is not for the purpose of handing down opinions but to enjoy a continual round of parties. There is scarcely a party of any importance in Washington where he does not appear—including also some parties not so important.

Justice and Mrs. Burton were to be seen recently at the Afghanistan reception—a country some people scarcely know exists—and when Ambassador Jawdat of Iraq entertained in honor of his Majesty, King Faisal of Iraq, the Justice turned up to drink a toast. Whether it be a reception in honor of Ohio congressmen, in this case given by Burton himself, or a cocktail party to inspect a portrait of ex-Attorney General Francis Biddle, painted by his brother; or a tea party at the Czech Embassy, Justice Burton always seems to be there.

It's got to be more than a joke around Washington. It's come to the point that when Justice Hugo Black leaves a dinner party at 10 p. m. in order to go home and work on an opinion, guests pointedly remark that Black wouldn't have to burn the midnight oil if Burton would pull his full weight.

The illness of Justice Douglas also has been attributed by friends to overwork as the result of writing more than his share of the court's opinions.

Although Black and Douglas stand out as the most prodigious workers on the court, no other justice comes anywhere near Burton's low mark of only three majority opinions. Frankfurter and Rutledge wrote five and four majority opinions, but counterbalanced this by a very large number of dissents and concurring opinions—24 for Frankfurter and 19 for Rutledge. Burton, on the other hand, wrote only three dissents.

Justice Murphy is next highest to Black and Douglas with 13 majority opinions, followed by Reed, 11, with Jackson and Vinson 10 each.

Last year no one paid too much attention to Burton's low output, since he was a junior justice. Now, however he has been on the court for two full years, which for other justices is considered ample time to begin to earn their $20,000 a year.

—PROFESSOR "IKE" EISENHOWER—General Eisenhower was talking to friends the other day about his desire to be president of a university.

"This job," he said, referring to his present duty as chief of staff, "is a come-down, after being in Europe during the war. However, I felt that I owed it to the army to help get appropriations through Congress. But I'm going to get out soon. There are several good men who could step in here and I owe it to them to make room for them."

When a friend asked Eisenhower if he would be a candidate for the presidency, he replied:

"No man would ever refuse to be president of the United States and therefore I certainly would not refuse—provided I were given the nomination by acclamation without going out to campaign for it. But you and I know that it just doesn't come that way."

In talking to the trustees of Columbia, Eisenhower indicated that one reason he was interested in becoming its president was because Columbia did not go in for racism, but was open to students of all religious faiths.

NOTE—Talking to friends about the Russians recently, Eisenhower remarked: "Dealing with the Russians is like telling your wife a lie. If you tell her a lie once, you keep on and it piles up until eventually she finds out. It's much better to tell her the truth. Likewise it's best to talk straight to the Russians."

—CIVIL SERVICE GESTAPO?—

Meeting behind closed doors, the House Civil Service committee is putting some sockeroo catches in the President's plan to check the loyalty of all federal employees. Only one voice inside committee was raised against the Gestapo tactics—that of Los Angeles' Democratic Rep. George P. Miller.

"Before we vote," Miller declared, "I want to make my position clear. I believe we are rushing into this program without appreciating the consequences. It is a serious violation of individual rights to take a man's job away from him. If a person has a grudge against an employee, he can bring false charges against him. It seems to me that the bill will brand the employee guilty until he can prove himself innocent. That is not the American way."

Statistics show that the average man uses eight matches a day. One of his own—and you know where he gets the rest of them.

It's better to have won and lost than to have dropped both ends of a double-header.

Heavy spring rains threaten the 1947 potato crop. Heavens! Isn't Uncle Sam going to have any to destroy?

PENINSULA 400 HITS TRACTOR

C&NW Train Almost Has Derailment Near Campbellsport

Nearly 500 passengers of the North Western's northbound Peninsula 400 had a narrow escape Thursday evening when the streamliner, moving at a mile-a-minute clip, struck and demolished a farm tractor, attached to a loaded stone boat, on a private crossing a mile north of Campbellsport, south of Fond du Lac. The accident occurred about 6:30, and delayed the train 90 minutes.

Paul Halfman, Campbellsport farmer, was located at his home, a quarter-mile away, after a search of the right of way failed to disclose his body. He said the tractor had stalled on the track according to trainmen.

"Our guardian angel must have been riding with us," Conductor Al Ewert, Milwaukee, declared. Had fragments of the tractor, or boulders from the stone boat, gone under the train, derailment would have been virtually certain, he said. One large fragment of casting was hurled to the side of the track and snapped off a telegraph pole, Ewert said. In addition, cars and right of way were drenched with oil from the tractor's fuel tank; however, it did not ignite.

There was a noticeable jar as the Diesel locomotive hit the tractor, Ewert said, but it was not violent enough to harm anyone. The steel skirt which replaces the "cow catcher" on the front end of the streamliner was so badly damaged that part of it had to be cut off with a torch at Campbellsport, and the rest at Fond du Lac. The collision occurred at a curve and a rock cut, giving Chet Hay, Fond du Lac, engineer, no opportunity to see the obstruction in time to stop, Ewert stated.

139 Menominee Vets Take G. I. Training

One hundred and thirty-nine World War II veterans in Menominee county are taking institutional or on-the-job training under provision of Public Laws 16 and 346, officials of the Upper Peninsula Veterans Administration office in Escanaba announced yesterday.

Of this number, 90 are signed up for on-the-job training, which means that in addition to actual instruction on the job, veterans are attending four hours of class work each week. Forty-nine Menominee county vets are enrolled in school under the G. I. program.

Rev. Otto Steen Hopes To Sail For Norway On June 30

The Rev. Otto Steen, pastor of the First Methodist church, Escanaba, will leave Monday for New York from where he hopes to sail June 30 to visit his aged father in Larvik, Norway, who is ill and whom he has not seen since 1929.

Because of the uncertainty of obtaining his passport from Washington in time for the departure of the ship on which he expects to sail June 30, Rev. Steen's long-awaited trip to visit his relatives in Norway may yet have to be postponed. He will leave Escanaba Monday for New York, however, in the hope that the passport will reach him there by the date his ship, the SS Marine Jumper, sails for Oslo.

It will be Rev. Steen's first opportunity to visit his father and other relatives in Norway since the war and the end of German occupation of Norway. During the war members of the Steen family in Norway were, like many others in that country, subjected to hardship and privation under the harsh rule of the German military.

During Rev. Steen's absence services in the First Methodist church will be conducted by the Rev. Glenn E. Kjellberg, pastor of the Memorial Methodist church, Gladstone.

Shirley Baker 2nd
In Hiawathaland
Queen Competition

The standings of the Miss Hiawathaland contestants as of last night showed Shirley Baker of 301 South 11th street displacing Rosemary Derocher of Bark River for second place. At the same time Miss Baker moved to within 50,011 votes of Jean Farrell of 920 Sheridan Road, who has been leading for the past two weeks.

The contest, which is entering its last week, is still anybody's race.

The last few days have witnessed quite a change in the standings with the girls in the first 10 gradually becoming more closely grouped with much support for Shirley Baker, Ann Toussaint, Irma Bartley, Jeanne Groos and Mary Terrien.

Monday night the contestants will be the guests of Mr. Perring and the Sherman Hotel at a dinner in their honor, beginning at 7. Following the dinner the girls will be informed of their part in the pageant-spectacle "Hiawathaland Saga" which will be held each night of the Festival, at the high school stadium. The exact make-up of the court of honor will be described to them at that time although the girls who will make up the court as well as Miss Hiawathaland's identity will not be known until all the ballots are counted at 6 p. m. one June 28.

Standings follow: Jean Farrell 651,082, Shirley Baker 600,671, Rosemary Derocher 549,590, Anna Marie Toussaint 458,100, Irma Bartley 419,437, Jean Groos 409,050, Mary Terrien 401,592, Helen Johnson 343,410, Ethel Mae Richer 317,261, Jackie Courneene 282,723, Gladys Jefferson 292,579, June Peterson 277,470, Marilyn Groos 270,000, Alta Porath 269,593, Helen Schwalbach 262,050, Beverly Thompson 254,823, Mary Ann Anderson 251,074, Shirley Poquette 239,122, Edna Frossard 237,730, Lotta Jones 221,660, Patsy Ammel 218,264, Frances Sliva 216,437, Ann Bakran 214,012, Jean Stratton 213,412, Mary Ann Gasman 207,802, Lois Sawyer 113,200, Valerie Spade 101,384, Shirley Flath 101,200, Betty Swiland 81,700, Marlon O'Neill 75,720, Louise Walker 60,420.

Deer Pays City
Short Visit; Dog
Hurries It Along

Residents in the vicinity of 14th street and 17th avenue South had a thrill about 8:30 last night when they saw a large doe prancing nonchalantly down the street.

That is, the doe was nonchalant until the neighborhood children moved into action and "sliced" a dog after the doe, whereupon friend deer high-tailed it south, turned up 17th avenue off 14th, leaped a fence and headed back toward more familiar territory away from those creatures with clothes on.

Mrs. George Jensen, 1712 South 14th street, reported the incident, the first time it happened in Escanaba in some time.

Off The Chest ...

BY JAY ARRELL

The motto on the great seal of the State of Michigan, we are told, in its liberal translation goes something like this: "If you would like to see a fair peninsula, then look about you."

Not bad! A man would be oblivious indeed to the finer things of life if, on one of the three or four fine mornings we have had this week, he looked about him and failed to register gratitude at being alive.

And now, since we are about to share the advantages of this beautiful country with the thousands of people who come here each summer to seek rest, relaxation and recreation, it probably wouldn't be amiss for us to look to these summer guests for pointers as to why they prefer this area to some other tourist area. A lot of us are in the position of the man who couldn't see the forest because of the trees.

Some of these tourists, we know, will say that they come up here, year after year, because the fishing is good. Others will say that they like the inviting congeniality of this or that particular resort and the fine meals served there. Others visit this area because they and certain close friends and their families like to get together for an outing. All of them will agree, however, that what suits their fancies most is Upper Michigan's air-conditioned climate and wonderful scenery.

We, who have become acclimated have become indifferent to the sound of wind blowing through long needled pine trees, the trim, ladylike loveliness of birch trees and the colorful tints of early maple leaves. We do, of course, admit that the view of Lake Michigan along Highway US-2 is "pretty nice," but it is no longer indescribably breathtaking as it is to folks from Chicago, Des Moines or St. Louis.

So we wonder if we aren't overlooking a number of safe bets when we prepare our travel literature. We have been wondering if a few pictures of our countryside—of our old friend A. L. Byers feeding a couple of pet fawns, or folks enjoying picnics along some of our roadside tables—wouldn't entice more visitors than imitation Hollywood stuff that could just as well be taken at Podunk, Indiana, or Abilene, Kansas.

We may be wrong. It may be well and good to stress the sophisticated angle in our travel literature, but our wilderness, our Lake Michigan, our boulevarded highways, our wild life (woodchucks, porcupines, eagles, cranes, sea-gulls, as well as deer and bear), our wild flowers and our blueberries have been woefully under-emphasized.

And the romance from the fact that Father Marquette and Father Baraga once trod our shores and that the beautiful legends that gave rise to Longfellow's "Song of Hiawatha" were largely derived from people who lived here before the white man came, make the Paul Bunyan sagas fall flat by way of comparison.

So we feel that when the next year rolls around and a new batch of travel literature is sent abroad, that the feature writers will ditch a lot of the hackneyed imitation Coral Gables stuff and present instead something that tells of cool breezes, the splash of trout, the scene of pine, glimpses of "the shining big sea water," historic spots and close proximity to a country where the hand of civilization has neither rested heavily nor clutched ruthlessly.

BIG PARADE
ON JULY 4THGenerous Prizes Offered
For Best Floats
Entered

Efforts to make the parade, which starts off Manistique's Fourth of July celebration, a spectacle of outstanding merit, was strengthened by the announcement that $200 will be offered in prizes for floats.

Business establishments and fraternal and civic organizations will be invited to prepare entries in the parade.

Also with a view of imparting a patriotic touch to the general scheme of things, a prize of $25 will be offered for the best window display in the city.

Among the outstanding events of the day will be a softball game between East Side, captained by Red Stewart and West Side, captained by Fred Christensen; a baseball game between Ishpeming and Manistique; a tug of war (if the Paper Makers accept the inland Stoneheavers challenge); street sports throughout the day, a water fight between the volunteer and the regular fire departments; bicycle races, silver gloves boxing contest, fireworks display and pavement dancing as a grand finale.

Practically all of the details of the big celebration are now completed. A committee meeting Friday evening revealed that ample financial support is assured for the celebration.

Indians By 9 to 1

Boston, June 21 (AP)—With Bobby Doerr belting a grand slammer and Sam Mele two-on homer, the Boston Red Sox chased Bob Feller after the fifth inning today while romping to a 9-1 win over the Cleveland Indians.

Going after his eighth triumph, Right-hander oe Dobson, the Bosox ace, had a no-hitter until Manager Lou Boudreau opened the seventh with a slasher through the box to hit safely in 11 consecutive games.

Doerr's four-run wallop came in the first after Don Guttridge opened with a single to left and Feller jammed the sacks by passing Johnny Pesky and Ted Williams, who drew three walks during the game to run up his season's total to 71.

Rialto Bldg.Lt. Robert P. Zadnik Gladstone,
Helped Rescue Fliers Downed
In Dense Nicaraguan Jungles

HELICOPTER PILOT—This is Lt. Robert Zadnik, who with crew from Westover Field, rescued American fliers downed in Nicaragua. It was his first rescue mission since becoming a 'copter pilot and being assigned to rescue missions.

Lt. Robert Zadnik, (above), son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Zadnik, city, was one of the helicopter pilots who helped rescue a B-17 crew which parachuted from their burning plane into dense Nicaraguan jungle. It is learned. The following story headlined "Westover Fliers Tell Story of Nicaraguan Rescues" appeared in the Springfield Union newspaper of June 11:

"A helicopter rescue detachment of the Air Force Service of the Army Air Forces stationed at Westover Field arrived back at their base last night after having effected an almost unbelievable rescue of the crew of a crashed B-17 in the midst of the almost impenetrable Nicaraguan jungles within 50 miles of Managua.

"Burned to a deep brown by the hot Nicaraguan sun, the rescuers stepped from their C-82 to tell a story of jungle struggle that has rarely been equaled.

"When the Westover detachment left Alamogordo, their Nicaraguan base of operations, all but one of the crew of the 15 men of the B-17 which crashed May 24 had been carried from the jungle by helicopter to civilization.

"So dense was the jungle into which the men parachuted when their plane caught fire that officers told of men on the ground unable to reach emergency kits which had landed but two feet from them.

"Parachuting at 14,000 feet from their plane which was enroute from Albrook Field in the Canal Zone to Kelly Field, Tex., the crew landed over a radius of 35 square miles, a difficult rescue task in any country, almost impossible in the jungle. Many were located by the parachutes which caught on trees — others nearly forfeited their chances for rescue when they wandered from their original landing positions.

"To effect the rescue, the helicopter pilots, Lts. Dale R. Pauls and Robert P. Zadnik, flew their craft after assembly in Alamogordo to a point some 50 miles up the Rio Grande river where they landed with difficulty on the tip of a sand bar in midstream at a point six miles from the farthest man.

"The trip up-river, ordinarily done by boat in seven days, took the helicopter 20 minutes. Spreading out from the base camp, not far from a native village, trained jungle rescuers in teams of two's and three's fought their way through walls of vines to reach their objectives.

"A 'paradoctor,' Dr. Pope Holliday, was dropped by plane to one shock victim who was seen running in circles in a small clearing in the jungle. He later collapsed from heat exhaustion after traveling only 15 yards through the undergrowth. The first two men to be rescued by the jungle troops after a day and night were a Pfc. English and a Sgt. Piel.

Hero Of Operation
"Hero of the operation was Lt. Harry Borman of Chicago, who existed on crickets, minnows, grubs and snails and the blood and entrails of a turtle for 12 days before he was picked up. He told rescuers his only protection was an 8-inch knife which he had bought on a hunch just previous to the flight.

"Fashioning a canteen from a bamboo stick, he let it fill in the stream during the day. By the ingenious method of fashioning a crude wooden pointer before the sun disappeared each night, Lt. Borman was able to set off each morning in the direction in which he had last seen one of the detachment's planes circling.

"It was indicated that his condition on rescue was superior to that of the many men who remained passive and afraid to help themselves. None of those lost in the jungle, except one man with a broken leg, starved, due to jungle survival kits containing several kinds of food, mosquito netting and medicines which were dropped to those who were immediately located.

"Hovering of the helicopter over the men was prevented by a combination of atmospheric and topographical drawbacks. The height of the Central American jungle with its rarefied atmosphere plus 150 foot trees did not allow the rotors of the copters to hold the machines at the level of 45 feet necessary to lower the rescue lines.

"Pilots of the machines told of flying in ceilings of 50 to 100 feet and in heavy rain conditions under which helicopters have rarely flown.

"Lt. Pauls of the Westover Field detachment taking part in the joint operation, took three men from the jungle while another flier from a southern base flew out four. Others of the men were brought to civilization by natives along the river, and four of the group walked out, unassisted.

"Another indication of the density of the jungle foliage was given when Lt. Pauls told of a group of four rescuers who struggled through the mass of brush for five days and were still one and one-half miles from the man for whom they were searching.

"As for the one man who was not located when the crews left Nicaragua, native rumor had it that he was in a logging camp farther up the Rio Grande, and because the natives are in the midst of their logging season, nobody could be spared to bring him down the river. The Nicaraguans take advantage of the rainy season, which is just commencing, to float their logs down the rivers.

"Many of those rescued were said to have cried 'like little boys' when they were rescued.

"The operation was highlighted by the birth of a baby girl to the wife of Lt. Zadnik. Days elapsed before he could be notified. He was able to spend two hours with his wife at the base hospital in Ft. McDill, Fla., Sunday evening and about ten minutes before leaving Florida yesterday morning.

"The rescue ship crew was notified of the crash on the evening of May 25 and took off from Westover at 3:30 a. m., May 26.

"Other rescue detachments in the joint operation were: Detachment 2 of the 62nd Base Unit and Squadron A of the 62nd, both stationed at Pope Field; the First Rescue Squadron of the Panama Canal Zone and the 33rd Infantry Regiment of the Canal Zone."

PERMANENT RESCUE SERVICE

The following, taken from an article appearing in "The Flyer," Westover Field publication, tells of preparations made by the Air Force for long range rescue work of airmen:

"The newly organized C-82 Packet — B5D helicopter 'rescue team' of the Air Service Detachment No. 2, stationed at Westover Field, received its first active workout the past weekend. A long distance call sent officers and men of the detachment into a burst of activity that did not end until 0349 Sunday morning when the C-82 was airborne enroute to Managua, Nicaragua. AAF headquarters had requested that the helicopter be flown there to aid the search for the B-17 crashing in the Nicaraguan jungles last week.

"The two aircraft used on this mission are the first of several rescue teams to be stationed at strategic Air Rescue Service Detachments throughout the United States. In the future the helicopter will be kept torn down and packaged aboard the C-82's for rapid dispatching on long range rescue missions. Ground and air crews assigned to these aircraft will have no other duties and will be required to be on call 24 hours a day. * * *

"The work of dismantling the 'copter was begun as soon as the men reported for duty (within an hour) and with both officers and men working together the 'twirly-bird' was torn down and loaded aboard the C-82 and the 'Packet' airborne eight hours and 39 minutes after receiving the phone call for assistance. * * *

"The helicopter is designed to tear down in five units for easy loading and transportation by air. The rotor blades are first removed, the main rotor head and gear box unbolted from the fuselage, the tail cone taken off, and the landing gear removed. The complete unit fits easily into the cargo compartment of the C-82 'Packet,' including spare parts and tool boxes. * * *

Bears Battle Negaunee Rovers At City Diamond This Afternoon

SOUTH LEAD IN THREE-WAY TIE

Escanaba, Gladstone, Munising Share Top Rung

The Escanaba Bears will renew their fight to remain on the top rung of the Michigan Rainbow league standings when they meet the Negaunee Rovers at the Escanaba athletic field at 2:30 p.m. today.

Both the Bears and the Rovers played in the NWM league last season, shifting over to the Rainbow circuit in 1947. They divided a pair of games last year, Negaunee winning at Escanaba, 2-1, while the Bears copped a more decisive victory at Negaunee later in the season.

Whether it will be Jack Beck or Jim Fitzpatrick called for mound duty by the Bears probably will be decided by Manager Schwabach shortly before game time. It is Fitzpatrick's turn to hurl as the two Escanaba pitchers have been rotating league assignments and Beck pitched last Sunday against Marquette. Fitzpatrick, however, was on the hill Wednesday night against Perronville.

Dale Wood probably will catch with Bob Anderson at first, Dick Lough at second, Ed Gauthier at shortstop and Fran Pryal at third. Outfielders will be Kip Derouin, Bob Dufour and George Shomin or Jack Schwabach.

The Bears are anticipating a closely fought game with the Rovers, who have much the same lineup of last year.

The Escanaba team will need a victory today to maintain the hot pace in the South division of the Rainbow league. They are now tied with Gladstone and Munising, both of whom are favorites to win in their league game today with North division foes. Ishpeming plays at Gladstone, and Munising invades Gwinn.

In other Rainbow tilts today, Manistique is host to Republic. Humboldt treks to Chatham and Trenary will play the Legionnaires at Marquette.

Injuries Crimp Cardinal Hopes In Today's Game

Manistique, June 21 — Injury to two star players put a damper on Cardinal chances in today's game between the Manistique Cardinals and Republic. A victory is still anticipated, but the going will be tough, Bob Harbin, Cardinal manager, says.

Benish, whose batting was the sensation of last week's game with Ishpeming, is out because of a broken finger and Mason Rhoads, one of the most dependable players in the lineup is also out because of a badly burnt hand.

Two rookies will take their place. Frank Rydquist, whose batting has shown much promise, will be placed in the outfield, and Don Martin will be put on second.

Lessica, whose pitching arm has been in good shape, will be assigned first base and called on for relief if necessary. Johnson and Chartier are also slated to do some duty on the mound.

The diamond is in good shape.

The opening game in the Tri-County Junior Baseball league between the Escanaba Cubs and Gladstone, slated to be played in Gladstone this afternoon, has been postponed until Tuesday evening in Gladstone because of a conflict at the diamond, Cub Coach Al Ness reported yesterday.

The other two openers, Manistique at Nahma and Chatham at Munising, will be played as scheduled.

Sports Parade

By Jim Ward

Detroit and Upper Michigan can forget about the 1952 Olympics—the international sports classic yesterday was awarded to the sentimental favorite, Helsinki, which was denied the 1940 Olympics when the Russians started firing with loaded guns—but Michigan interests would do well to start pointing toward the 1956 Olympics. Oslo, Norway, got the winter games for '52.

Besides awarding of the 1952 Games to the plucky Finns, who didn't know where their next bullet was coming from during World War II, one other good move came out of the committee meeting in Stockholm, Sweden, yesterday.

We refer to the move toward consolidation of U. S. interests to present a blanket bid for the 1956 Olympics. It was a bit ridiculous this year to see five United States cities scrapping among themselves in opposition to Helsinki and dividing American support to the point where Europeans must ponder what manner of people we are.

Sure, we wanted Detroit and Upper Michigan to get the 1952 Games, but how much better if all America had been behind one city's bid, instead of staging a fight among ourselves at the international meeting.

In addition to Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis, Los Angeles and Philadelphia sent brochures, delegates, pictures, promises and invitations. Despite the fact Helsinki was the sentimental favorite, it is no wonder the committee voted in her favor.

The five-way split of U. S. support was given as one reason why the frugal, debt-paying Finns won out in the voting. Another primary reason cited was that with Helsinki as the site, traveling expenses for athletes from European countries would be reduced considerably.

To American delegates goes credit for at least being quick to congratulate the winners. But it is this rivalry among ourselves that causes Europeans to shake their heads and wonder.

It seems only logical that the smart move on our part would be to consolidate our farspread interests and present a united front for the 1956 bid.

Detroit and Philadelphia groups, particularly the latter, supported as strongly in favor of U. S. support in the future being concentrated on one city.

By contrast, however, we quote the words of William McGuffin, who made a would-be dramatic last-minute flight to Stockholm, loaded down with words of wisdom and advice from the Chicago Tribune brain trust, to place Chicago's bid:

"It was only fair that Finland got the 1952 games," he said, apparently graciously enough. But then, it can be assumed that the fire returned to his eye when he added: "But we want them in 1956."

Detroit and Philadelphia made the suggestion that before the selection of the 1956 site, all U. S. rivals should confer and determine which American city should offer the invitation.

It is possible that Chicago could be won over to such logic. If not, Lonesome Polecat and Hairless Joe may have to be called upon to do the job.

Worsham Leads Way Into National PGA Meet Quarterfinals

Detroit, June 21 (AP)—Lew Worsham of Pittsburgh, Pa., today was a definite threat to become the first man in a quarter-century to capture both the National Open and P.G.A. Golf championships the same year.

The 28-year-old newcomer to the big-time ranks, who last week won the Open at St. Louis, led seven other survivors of a starting field of 64 into the quarter-finals of the professional classic today—and it was just about an even bet that he'd still be in there firing Tuesday when the title goes on the line.

Back in 1922 as a 20-year-old, Gene Sarazen won both the Open and the P.G.A., but he's the only one who ever turned the trick. That same Sarazen, his putter refusing to work, bowed out of the running today, ending his quest for a fourth P.G.A. championship.

Worsham moved into the favorite's role as a result of the wide margins by which he has erased three match-play opponents.

REDSKINS MEET HEMATITE NINE

Gladstone, June 21 — For the fourth Sunday in a row, the Gladstone Redskins will play a northern division team of the Rainbow league, Ishpeming coming here to furnish the opposition tomorrow. The game will be played at the Bayshore diamond, starting at 2:30.

The Hematites have a record of two wins and three losses thus far this season but are a young team which has given opponents plenty of trouble.

Mel Rothschild undoubtedly will be assigned to start on the mound with either Johnny Lundin or Russ Carlson behind the plate.

The infield will be selected from Stan Swork, William Bryan, Dave LeGault, Bobby Bizeau, Jim Paine, Art LeGault and Walter Gobert. Outfielders are Jim Gibbs, Pete DeMenter and Charles Lundmark with Frank Brown able to play the outfield, infield or capably handle mound duties.

The ball diamond at the bay shore was improved during the past week under the direction of Carl Haglund, municipal employee. Top soil was put on the infield and low spots in the outfield were filled. A homerun fence was erected and players are now thinking of dugouts as the next improvement.

Boy Thrill Slayer Of Four Children Gets Sanity Tests

Lapeer, Mich., June 21 (AP)—Sanity of Oliver R. Terpening, jr., 16-year-old self-admitted "thrill" slayer of four playmates, will be determined at a public hearing here Tuesday.

Circuit Judge George W. DesJardins will preside at the court session, ordered after an original three-man psychiatric commission divided in its opinion as to the boy's sanity.

Dr. Ralph Patterson, of the University of Michigan, Neuropsychiatric institute, and Dr. John R. M. Bride, Lapeer brain surgeon, were appointed by the court to conduct additional mental tests.

They will make a report of their findings at Tuesday's hearing. Others who may testify are members of the original sanity board, Dr. R. L. Dixon of Caro; Dr. Fred Palmer of Lapeer, and Dr. R. Gordon Brain of Flint.

If Oliver is found sane, he must stand trial for the murder of Barbara Smith, 16; her brother Stanley, 14, and sisters Gladys, 13 and Janet, 3. The four were shot to death May 26 while playing with Oliver near their farm home in Inlay City.

Bridegroom Admits Robbery To Pay For Preacher And Cake

Bay City, Mich., June 21 (AP)—Detective Sgt. Chester Trojanowicz said a 22-year-old would-be bridegroom was arrested one hour before his scheduled wedding today and promptly admitted committing a robbery to get money "to pay the preacher and buy a wedding cake."

The detective said Joseph C. Harrison was arrested for investigation of armed robbery, as he stood, nattily dressed, on the lawn of his 18-year-old intended bride's home, chatting with the

Horse And Shanty Take Michigan Man On Trip To Florida

Bluefield, W. Va., June 21 (AP)—A 38-year-old stonemason in a ramshackle, horse-drawn shanty on wheels rested atop nearby East River Mountain today on the homeward leg of a 2,800-mile trek from Michigan to Florida and back.

The stonemason, Richard E. Cook of Midland, Mich., and his bizarre vehicle were spotted yesterday by a Bluefield attorney, James Martin, who recalled blinking at the same sight on the same mountain last November.

"Yep," drawled Cook, "I was traveling south then. Now I'm coming back."

"I wanted to go to Florida and I wanted to prove that a horse could do it," he explained. The horse is a 13-year-old named Buck.

Cook said he set out from Midland last October in his "trailer," which is little more than a large, four-wheeled packing box. He started with $35 and stopped to work whenever money ran low.

The journey, Cook said, has involved 77 days of leisurely clapping by Buck, a tour of Florida points, 43 new horseshoes, 11 flat tires, and $358 in expenses.

Cook, who is single and lives with his parents at Midland, expects to be home in July—provided Buck holds out.

The officer said Harrison held up cashier Mollie Streeter at a local cleaning establishment by pretending to have a gun in his coat pocket and escaped with $27.

He was traced to the wedding scene through a cab driver he engaged for a getaway and seized as last minute wedding preparations were being made, Trojanowicz said.

Postal Rates Won't Increase This Year, GOP Chiefs Promise

Washington, June 21 (AP)—House Republican leaders said today there will be no increase in postal rates this year, despite the administration's request.

The present three-cent rate on first-class mail (letters) will be continued for another year and will not be allowed to drop back to the prewar two-cent rate on July 1, they told a reporter.

In keeping with the decision of the GOP high command, Chairman Rees (R-Kas) of the House postoffice committee has introduced a bill that would retain rates at their present levels until Congress can act on a permanent measure.

If the three-cent rate were allowed to drop back to two cents on July 1, as it would without a new act, Rees said, "it would create a further deficit of about $200,000,000."

Miss DeBacker Is Bride Of Paul VanDamme

At a beautiful ceremony in St. Joseph's church at Perkins Saturday, Miss Jeanette DeBacker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil DeBacker of St. Nicholas, became the bride of Paul VanDamme, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jules VanDamme of St. Nicholas, with Rev. Fr. Alphons Coignard officiating at the 9 a. m. nuptial high mass.

Music for the services were the traditional wedding marches by the church choir. Yellow and lavender tulips flanked the altar before which the vows were said.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white satin with a fitted bodice and laced train and a lace-edged fingertip veil. Her bridal bouquet was of roses and lilies of the valley.

Her maid of honor, Miss Dorothy DeBacker, was dressed in a pale-blue gown of taffeta with pink accessories. The bridesmaid, Miss Patsy Roman, wore an identical gown in blue taffeta and both carried bouquets of pink and white carnations, peonies and roses.

Gerard VanDamme served Mr. VanDamme as best man and Valre VanDamme ushered.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. DeBacker chose a dress of aqua blue with matching accessories and wore a corsage of red roses and white carnations. Mrs. VanDamme wore a blue wool suit with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses and white carnations.

Following the ceremony in Perkins a wedding breakfast was served immediate members of the family at the Rainbow room in Bell's Coffee shop. A dinner was held at 1 o'clock at the home of the bride for 100 guests.

The newly-weds left on a wedding trip to Washington where they will visit with the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beasley.

Upon their return the young couple will make their home in St. Nicholas on the DeBacker farm, recently purchased by Jules VanDamme.

The bride is a graduate of Perkins high school; the bridegroom of Rock high school.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mrs. Ruby Hamelin, Mr. and Mrs. William Roman, Mr. and Mrs. John Kesler, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Manger of Escanaba; Joseph Ambeau, Mr. and Mrs. August Brock, Mr. and Mrs. John Mastage and Mrs. Arthur Brock and daughter of Bark River; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tiberger of Gladstone; Mr. and Mrs. George Weigartner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mantle of Rock; Rev. A. C. Coignard, Miss Marie Wilmette and Mrs. William B. Moreau of Perkins; Mr. and Mrs. Elfridge Newhouse of Flat Rock; Mr. and Mrs. Jerome DeBacker and Mr. and Mrs. Pat DeBacker of Watson as well as many friends from the St. Nicholas community.
